Audix Systems were chosen over stiff competition to supply the Public Address and Background Music System for the prestigious Harvey Nichols department store in Leeds.

Audix Systems designed a system which allows background music throughout the store in staff and customer areas. General paging announcements, either pre-recorded advertising messages or "spot" announcements can be directed to specific zones. This is achieved through a special microphone panel that can identify individual zones to send paging messages without interrupting the music in other zones.

Other Department Stores with an Audix System include:

- Debenhams
- John Lewis
- House of Fraser
- Daisy & Tom
- ILVA
